

The National Endowment for the Arts is the only funder, public or private, that supports the arts in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. territories. The NEA serves constituents in all the states through three mechanisms; an annually-awarded partnership agreement to each state arts agency for programs and activities that strengthen the arts in their state; direct grants to the state's arts organizations, based on applications to NEA funding categories, and individual awards in literature, folk and traditional arts, and jazz. In addition, each state arts agency belongs to one of six US regional arts organizations (RAOs) that are funded by the NEA to support constituent priorities at the state, regional and national level. The RAO that serves California is the Western States Arts Federation.

INVESTING IN ARIZONA

In FY 2013-2015, the NEA awarded 77 grants to Arizona organizations for their work in a range of disciplines, 2 individual awards, and 3 partnership agreements totaling approximately $4.3 million in support of the arts in Arizona. Among the individual awards, both received a literature translation project fellowship.

The NEA requires that all direct grants awarded to organizations, plus partnership agreements, must be matched 1:1 in non-federal dollars. This requirement significantly leverages taxpayer funds. Every dollar of NEA funding is matched by up to $7 in private and other public contributions. From 2013-2015, matching funds for NEA grants totaled $7.2 million¹ in additional support.

Also during the period and through Arizona's state partnership agreements with the NEA, the state funded arts activities for 10 organizations.

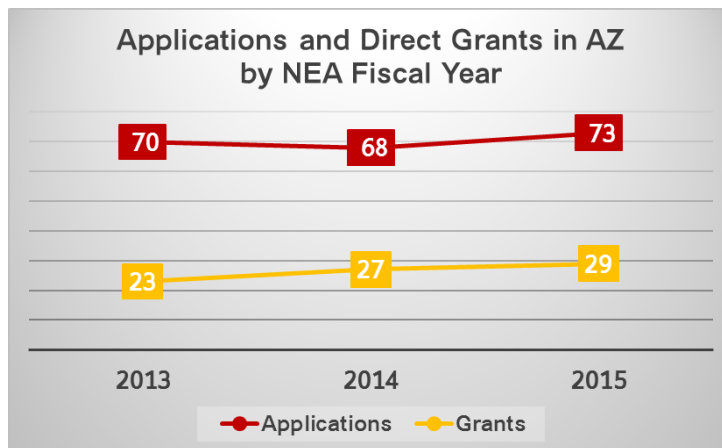

¹ These figures are from reported numbers in the "Recipient Share Non-Federal" data field from completed final descriptive reports. 2013 final descriptive report data from the state partnership had not been received and thus was not included at the time of this report.

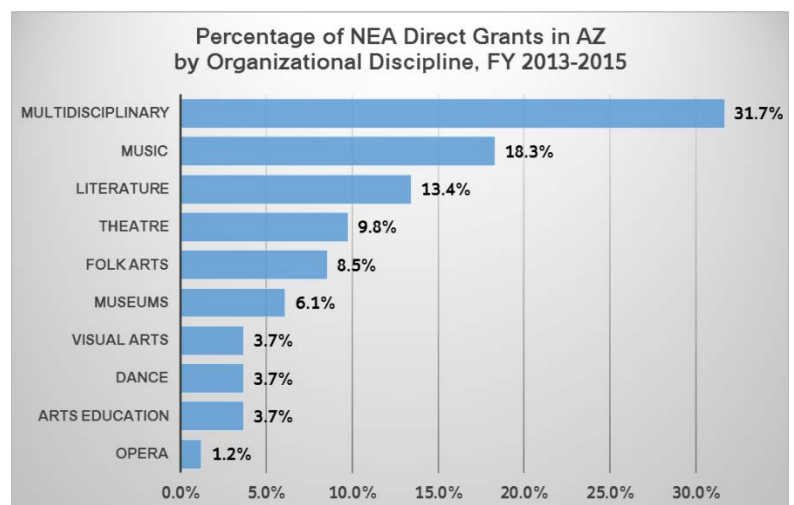

DIRECT GRANTS

NEA's direct grants to arts organizations are based on applications submitted by those organizations to funding categories such as Art Works and Challenge America. Applications are reviewed by diverse NEA-convened panels of citizen experts. Panel recommendations are then reviewed by the National Council on the Arts and the chairman for final approval. The application to grant award rate is approximately 50 percent.

The number of applications received between 2013 and 2015 decreased in 2014 and increased in 2015. The number of grants awarded increased both in 2014 and 2015.

In FY 2013-2015, direct NEA grants in Arizona reached a broad spectrum of organizational disciplines.
