Arizona College & Career Ready Standards and the Arts

Month-long blog series examines potential for Arts Integration, Connections & Collaborations

After four years of development, Arizona's College & Career Ready Standards are ready for full implementation throughout the state in the 2014-2015 school year. For educators, this shift offers a unique opportunity to reflect not only on what they teach, but also on how they teach.

Throughout the month of June, the Arizona Commission on the Arts is presenting a pair of exclusive blog series designed to explore the potential for arts integration within these new standards and to inspire the creativity of Arizona's educators.

Artist Research & Development Grants Application Period Now Open

Artist Research and Development Grants are designed to support individual artists from all disciplines. The purpose of this grant is to support the advancement of artistic research, aid in the development of artistic work and recognize the contributions individual artists make to Arizona's communities. Artist Research and Development Grants are made to practicing artists who demonstrate strong, original work that impacts both their own artistic practice and the broader community, as defined by the artist.

Application Deadline: 11:59pm Thursday, September 18, 2014

On Friday June 6th, the Tucson Pima Arts Council (TPAC) hosted The Lumies Awards 2014. The Lumies, or the Tucson Pima Arts & Business Awards, honor the arts luminaries of the Tucson and Pima county community and recognize the contributions of talented organizations, individuals and businesses at the core of the South Arizona art community. Nominees included an innovative professor influencing the next generation of architects, a theater that is reviving downtown Tucson, multiple youth education programs and a micro-cinema arts space. The wide range of nominees reflect the diversity of the art coming out of Southern Arizona.
