2014 Governor's Arts Awards—Call for Nominations

Arizona is rich with innumerable organizations, businesses, schools and individuals who contribute to the excellence and diversity of Arizona's arts and cultural community. Held annually since 1981, the Governor's Arts Awards have recognized 158 of these citizens and institutions, reflecting over three decades of exceptional contributions to the growth and enrichment of our state's arts and cultural heritage. The past year's recipients for 2013 include Jim Waid (Artist), Marion Kirk Jones (Arts in Education, Individual), Marshall Magnet Elementary School (Arts in Education, Organization), Southwest Ambulance (Business), Alwun House (Community), Dick Bowers (Individual) and Jim Ballinger (Shelley Award).

Carrying on the tradition, the 2014 Governor's Arts Awards organizers are asking the general public to nominate those individuals and organizations whose outstanding efforts in the arts and cultural community this past year they feel are most worthy of this special recognition. Nominations will be accepted until December 6, 2013.
