THE APPLICATION

When you're ready, go to <https://azarts.gov/grant/lifelong-arts-engagement/> and click on "Apply Now." This will take you to a website called Submittable where you'll submit your application materials. Please note that late or incomplete applications will be ineligible for review or funding.

Address each of these aspects of your proposal. You can type up your proposal narrative or you can upload it in video or audio recordings.

Narrative responses are limited to a maximum word (not character) count. Composing responses in a separate document allows an applicant to monitor the word counts set for each question.

If you share your proposal narrative in video or audio recordings keep it simple and to the point. The recordings should be just you, describing your proposal and answering the questions listed. Please do not include edits of your work samples or special effects. Production quality of these recordings will not be considered in your review. Just make sure we can hear and understand you and keep editing and post-production embellishment to a minimum.

EVALUATION CRITERIA

Here's what panelists will be thinking about as they review your application materials:

Quality of Proposed Project

Application demonstrates a strong arts learning project and asset-based premise.

Does the application clearly outline the important details of the project? Have you articulated the specific assets and contributions of the community of learners and collaborators involved? Does the application use asset-based language (like unique, passionate, capable, thriving) as opposed to deficit-based language (like at-risk, lacking, marginalized, underserved)? (See FAQ 1 for more information)

Integrity of Proposed Project

Viewed as a whole, the application demonstrates a consistency of proposed actions, values, methods, and goals.

Does the application articulate how the proposed project reflects or responds to the community of learners involved? Are the collaborators of the community or culture in which the project is rooted, and if not, how is the project dealing with questions of relevance, bias, and power dynamics?

Potential Impact

Application centers expected benefit to learners.

Are the objectives, outcomes and methods of evaluation well defined and relevant for the learners involved? Do the community of learners have a voice in the development and implementation of the project?

Viability

Application demonstrates a strong project plan and appropriateness of budget.

Does the application demonstrate substantial evidence that the proposal will be realized within the proposed project timeline? Are the expenses you describe appropriate to the project you propose?

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

The following section provides answers to a few of the most frequently asked questions regarding Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant applications. This section is not comprehensive. If your questions are not answered here, please contact the appropriate staff contact.

1. What is asset based vs. deficit-based language? How can we address various inequalities in our narrative?

Asset-based language focuses on the unique attributes the participants bring to the project (passionate, capable, thriving) as opposed to deficit-based language that define people and places by perceived insufficiencies (like at-risk, lacking, marginalized, underserved). If you're talking about a problem, use language that reflects that systematic disparities and communitywide problems in fact have systemic causes, that harm has been done, and that these are not self-caused problems, and explicitly describe those systems whenever possible. Let's not define people and places by their deficits. But let's also commit to telling the truth about how those deficits got there.

LAE LIFELONG ARTS ENGAGEMENT GRANT

2. Can I apply for a Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant in multiple cycles?

Individual organizations/entities may only receive one Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant per fiscal year. For example, if an organization applies in one of the two Cycles for Fiscal Year 2022 and IS funded, they may not apply again in the following Cycle for that Fiscal Year. If the application is NOT funded, it can be resubmitted in a future cycle.

3. Are school-based projects, or partnerships with schools or school districts, eligible for a Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant?

No. Projects partnering with schools or school districts working with youth 24, outside of traditional school time, would be eligible for a Youth Arts Engagement Grant.

4. I'm an arts organization, am I eligible to apply directly and serve as a partner in another project?

No. Due to the size and scale of the Lifelong Arts Engagement grant program, arts organizations awarded an LAE grant, are not eligible to serve as a partner on other Lifelong Arts Engagement grant funded projects.

5. My organization is eligible for multiple arts learning grant programs. Can I apply for more than one?

No. Though an organization may be eligible for more than one arts learning grant program, the Arts Commission limits the number of applications which may be submitted by an applicant to one arts learning grant program within the same funding period. As an example, an applicant who applies to the Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant program in Fiscal Year 2022 may not apply for a Youth Arts Engagement Grant that same year.

6. My organization is eligible for other Arts Commission grants (not arts learning related). Can I apply to those?

Yes. Organizations which are eligible for multiple grant programs offered by the Arizona Commission on the Arts may apply for and receive both an arts learning grant and another grant from a different department. For example, if an organization is awarded a Lifelong Arts Engagement Grant and they could also apply for and receive a general operating support grant that same year. This applies to arts learning grant programs only; other grant programs may retain application limits and guidelines should be reviewed carefully for specific eligibility.
